Market Square Arena

Market Square Arena, built by the city of Indianapolis and completed in 1974, is one of the premier sports and entertainment showplaces in the midwest.

The building was designed by Kennedy, Brown and Associates and constructed by Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Ground breaking ceremonies were held Oct. 20, 1971, and Sept. 15, 1974, the building was officially opened. The Pacers fell to San Antonio, 129-121, in double overtime in their first appearance in the building on Oct. 18, 1974.

Five nights later, Oct. 23, 1974, saw Indiana take its first victory in its "new" home as the Pacers dumped the Spirits of St. Louis, 122-107.

Market Square Arena highlights include the 1980 NCAA basketball semifinals and finals; the 1978 and 1979 NCAA basketball Mid-East Regionals; NBA's All-Star Saturday in 1985; the annual Indiana state high school basketball and wrestling championships; Elvis Presley's last concert on June 26, 1977; 1982 National Sports Festival; and 1987 Pan American Games basketball competition.

Site of countless sports and spectator events including circuses, rodeos, ice shows, major concerts, tennis and hockey, MSA has a seating capacity for concerts of 18,250; the same for boxing; 16,530 for basketball and 16,000 for hockey. All seats in the circular arena are free from posts and other obstructions of view. Prior to the 1984-85 NBA season, MSA underwent major reconstruction to include the most modern in handicap provisions and in 1988 a new animated color scoreboard and video replay screens were added.

The finest in dining is provided at Market Square Gardens restaurant, located on the seventh level on the west side of the building.

Donnie Walsh

President

Last year's success for the Pacers was something Donnie Walsh had been building toward for years.

Back in April of 1986, Walsh became the team's general manager. His goals were simple: establish a solid franchise and build a world championship team. Accomplishing those goals would be difficult, but Walsh brought a work ethic (he can be found most holidays in his office and he rarely takes a vacation) and basketball background that would help him greatly in trying to achieve them.

When Walsh took over, the Pacers were coming off a 26-56 season and the team had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Rebuilding the Pacers over the next few years would be a big challenge, particularly since two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, would have their careers shortened by knee injuries.

But in spite of that adversity, the Pacers have averaged nearly 40 victories a season (compared with an average of 25 victories the five previous seasons) and made the playoffs five straight years in Walsh's eight seasons in the Pacers' front office. Additionally, attendance in Market Square Arena has been the highest in franchise history the last eight seasons, including last year's record average of 13,265.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Indiana Pacers Corporation (which runs the Pacers and also directs the management of Market Square Arena), last season received some recognition as being one of the NBA's top executives after the Pacers finished with their NBA-best 47-35 record and reached the Eastern Conference Finals before losing to the New York Knicks.

A couple of the key moves Walsh made included the hiring of his old college teammate, Larry Brown, as head coach, a preseason trade that brought Derrick McKey to the Pacers and the signing of free agent Byron Scott. Those ingredients, along with players such as Dream Team II member Reggie Miller, Rik Smits, Dale Davis and Antonio Davis (all players drafted by Walsh), made the Pacers one of the NBA's top success stories last season.

It was a fitting reward for Walsh.

"I was most happy for the city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana, which had waited so long for this," said Walsh. "There are a lot of people who have put a lot of time and effort into building this franchise, from the owners to our office staff and I think everyone deserved to enjoy the success we had and savor the tremendous fan support we received."

Walsh's life has been spent in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former vice president Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina.

From there, Walsh was an associate head coach under McGuire at South Carolina and in 1977 was about to enter private law practice in Denver. But Brown, now the head coach with the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join his staff as an assistant.

When Brown resigned just past the midway point of the 1978-79 season, Walsh became the Nuggets' head coach for the remainder of the season, all of the 1979-80 season and for 31 games of the 1980-81 season. In 1981-82, he returned to the bench as an assistant for Doug Moe before entering private business.

Then in 1984, Walsh came to Indiana to be an assistant coach to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until he became general manager two years later.

He since has been named to the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball and is a current member of USA Basketball.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy is highly-recognized throughout the league by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

He and his wife, Judy, both natives of New York, have five children and live in Indianapolis.

Dale Ratermann

Vice President/Administration

Dale Ratermann is responsible for the administration of business operations for the Indiana Pacers. After six-and-a-half years as the media relations director, he was promoted to vice president of administration in 1992.

On five occasions, Ratermann was awarded the Howie McHugh/Marc Splaver Award, given to the outstanding public relations director in the NBA's Eastern Conference.

Before joining the Pacers staff, Ratermann served as the assistant sports information director at the University of Illinois for seven years. After graduating from Illinois in 1978, he attended graduate school at Arizona State University.

A native of Marion, Ill., Ratermann is single.

Bob Metelko

Chief Financial Officer

Bob Metelko joined the Pacers in November, 1984, as chief financial officer. Responsible for the finances of the Pacers and Market Square Arena, he oversees budgeting, cash management, financial reporting, insurance and employee benefits.

Metelko graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1967 with a degree in business administration and was drafted by the U.S. Army for a tour in the Finance Corps.

He moved to Houston in 1969 to work as staff auditor for Price Waterhouse, but left there in 1972 to join a small CPA firm in Greenwood, Ind. Metelko became a certified public accountant in 1973 and joined Merchants Bank as assistant controller a year later. He eventually became the vice president and controller before leaving to join the Pacers front office.

Originally from Lincoln, Ill., Metelko is married (Belinda) and has three children.

Billy Knight

Director of Player Personnel

A stellar performer for the Indiana Pacers in both the ABA and NBA, Billy Knight will help find the Pacers next superstar as Director of Player Personnel.

Prior to last season, Knight was the team's all-time leading scorer with 10,780 points in two ABA and six NBA seasons with Indiana. He was named an NBA All-Star in the Pacers' first season in the league (1976-77). In that season, he finished as the NBA's second leading scorer (behind Adrian Dantley) with 26.6 ppg.

He averaged 16.9 ppg in an 11-season career that included stints with Boston, Buffalo, Kansas City and San Antonio, as well as the Pacers. Knight was named an All-Star three times, twice in the NBA and once in the ABA.

A native of Pittsburgh and an all-American at the University of Pittsburgh, Knight competes as a state-ranked tennis player. He is married and has one daughter.

Bob Leonard
TV Analyst

Bobby "Slick" Leonard is in his 10th year as a Pacer broadcaster and lends his perspective to each game with his vast knowledge of basketball.

As a Pacers' head coach for 12 years, Leonard won 529 games and three ABA Championships. Before coming to the Pacers, "Slick" had an outstanding playing career on the collegiate and pro levels. A two-time All-American at Indiana University, he was captain of the Hoosiers' 1953 NCAA Championship team. He played seven years with the Minneapolis/Los Angeles Lakers.

"Slick" was the first person inducted into the I.U. Sports Hall of Fame and is also a member of the State of Indiana's Basketball Hall of Fame.

A native of Terre Haute, Ind., he lives in Carmel with his wife, Nancy, and is a partner in Bobby Leonard Enterprises.

Clark Kellogg
TV Analyst

Once a familiar name on the Pacers' roster, Clark Kellogg now uses his basketball expertise in a different capacity. In his seventh season, he adds a different angle as an analyst on Pacer telecasts. He can also be seen as an analyst for a full schedule of college games on ESPN.

The first-round draft pick of the Pacers in 1982, Kellogg played five seasons before chronic knee injuries forced him to retire. With the Pacers, he had NBA career averages of 18.9 points and 9.6 rebounds per game.

Kellogg, a native of Cleveland, OH, attended Ohio State University where he was named the MVP in the Big Ten Conference in 1982. He is involved in many charities and civic organizations, most notably the Special Olympics and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He and his wife Rosy have three children and live in Westerville, OH.

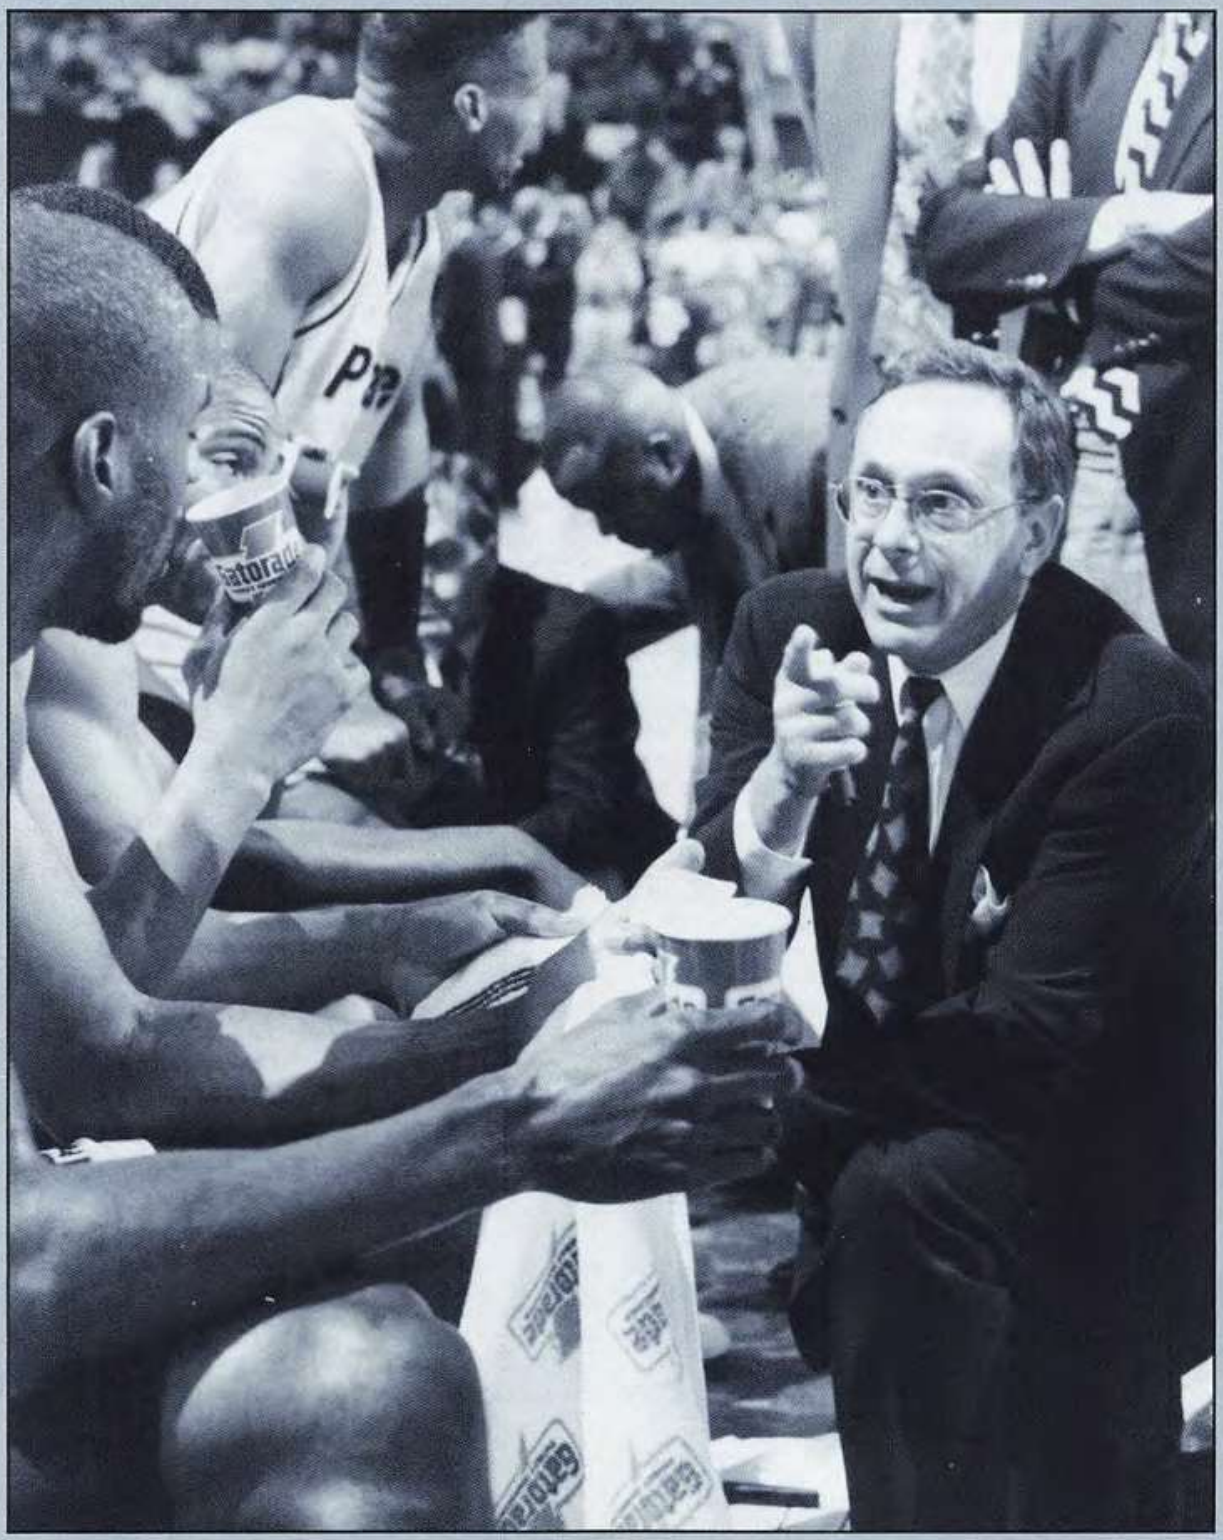
Coaches



Larry Brown

Head Coach

When Larry Brown was named coach of the Pacers in 1993, the match looked to be perfect in a number of ways.

Brown was reunited with his old teammate from the University of North Carolina, Pacers' President Donnie Walsh; he was coaching one of the original franchises from the old American Basketball Association, in which Brown both played and coached; he was coaching in a state that appreciates and loves basketball at all levels; and his past success as a coach seemed to be the impetus for a team hoping to step up to the next level.

By the time the 1994 NBA Playoffs were over, the match no longer looked perfect, it was perfect.

The 53-year-old Brown helped guide the Pacers to a 47-35 regular season record, the team's best in its 18-year NBA history and the fourth-best mark in the franchise's 27-year history. In that record, the Pacers closed the season with a 31-12 record, second-best in the NBA.

Then in the playoffs, Brown and the Pacers made it to the Eastern Conference Finals before succumbing in the final seconds of the seventh game of a best-of-seven series with the New York Knicks. The city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana recognized the accomplishments of the Pacers in a tremendous outpouring of support.

The whole scenario led Brown to say, "I've had a lot of great experiences, but I don't know if I've had any better than this."

That, in itself, is quite a statement considering Brown's career.

As a player, he played on the 1964 gold medal-winning Olympic basketball team for the United States and he was a three-time ABA All-Star.

As a coach, he reached the NCAA Final Four three times, winning a national championship with Kansas in 1988. He was also a three-time ABA Coach of the Year and amazingly, in 21 seasons as a head coach, Brown's teams have posted a .500 record or better 20 times.

His coaching skills have been learned from the best, Frank McGuire, Dean Smith and Henry Iba at the forefront. His record is a credit to their influence.

So it was only natural for Brown to land in Indiana as a coach. "Being in a state that loves basketball, appreciates basketball and really follows basketball, that's important to me," said Brown, who someday would like to be a high school coach.

His first Pacer team brought a stamp that made the state love it, appreciate it and follow it. The Pacers became a strong defensive team, one of only 10 teams in the NBA to hold opponents under 100 points for the season (97.5) and ranking sixth in opponents' field goal percentage (.450).

The Pacers also became noted for their hustle and unselfishness. Six players averaged in double figures with five more averaging at least six points a game and the team as a whole averaged 25 assists a game.

"Overall, I just know as a coach, you couldn't have a better situation," Brown said. "I had a great staff (Bill Blair, Gar Heard, Billy King). It was terrific working with them and seeing how the team responded to what we were asking them to do.

"Anytime a coach is connected with a team that tries hard every night, gets along and plays up to its potential night-in and night-out, that's what it's all about.

"We try to play the right way, we try to play unselfishly and I think we compete every night."

Brown will have an extra fan with him this season. Last June, he and his wife, Shelly, had their first child, Milton Laurence, who will go by L.J. Brown, an avid golfer and runner, also has three daughters, Kristen, Alli and Melissa.

Gar Heard

Assistant Coach

Gar Heard brings broad NBA experience to the Pacers as he begins his second year as an assistant coach. In his career Heard has played for, or worked with, some of the winningest coaches in the league's history, including Jack Ramsay, Dick Motta, Lenny Wilkens, John MacLeod and, of course, Larry Brown. That list makes up half of the top 10 career wins list in professional basketball.

Prior to joining the Pacers, Heard had coached the Dallas Mavericks, replacing Richie Adubato on January 13, 1993. In the Mavericks, Heard inherited a team that had posted just two wins in its first 29 games of the season, but guided the team to a 9-44 record the rest of the way.

Heard entered the NBA as the Seattle SuperSonics' third round draft choice out of Oklahoma in 1970. He played on seven playoff teams in his 11 seasons.

Heard has three children: daughters Kim Taylor and Yaasmeen, and a son Gyasi.

George Irvine

Assistant Coach

George Irvine's 14 year career with the Pacers' front office has included positions as head coach, assistant coach and scout. After seven years as the team's Vice President/Basketball Operations, Irvine returns to the bench this season as an assistant coach.

Irvine first joined the Pacers in 1980 as an assistant coach to Jack McKinney. He then coached the team from 1984-86 and on an interim basis during the 1988-89 season. Since 1986, though, Irvine has overseen everything on the basketball side from budgeting to scouting.

Irvine and his wife, Jeanie, reside in Carmel, where together they have five sons, Toby, Jaime, Conor, Michael and Patrick.

Billy King

Assistant Coach

A defensive stalwart on Duke's powerhouse teams of the late 1980's, Billy King is in his second year with the Pacers' coaching staff after serving four seasons as an assistant coach for Illinois State University.

Prior to his joining Illinois State, King spent one season as a color analyst for ESPN's basketball coverage of the Ohio Valley Conference. While at ESPN, he was commended by sports television critics for his knowledge of the game and his broadcast style.

While King was at Duke, the Blue Devils were 112-27, an average of 28 wins per season. In that time, Duke went to the Final Four twice, won the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season championship and two ACC Tournament titles. At the conclusion of his senior season, King was honored with the Henry Iba Corinthian National Defensive Player of the Year Award.

David Craig

Trainer

In 25 years, David Craig has distinguished himself as one of the best athletic trainers in sports. But he has also distinguished himself for his professionalism, knowledge, work ethic, organizational skills and personality.

Combined, the 47-year-old Craig has given the Pacers a valued employee whom many consider irreplacable. And since this is Craig's Silver Anniversary with the team, he just may be irreplacable.

Craig's athletic training education began as a junior at West Lafayette High School when he began working under Purdue University's William "Pinky" Newell, widely regarded as the father of modern day athletic training. That schooling continued for Craig as an undergraduate at Purdue and during summers he worked camps for the NFL's Detroit Lions and Minnesota Vikings.

Craig joined the Pacers prior to the 1970-71 season and was part of two American Basketball Association championship teams which he cites as "very important" moments in his career. He adds that he "looks forward to being part of an NBA championship" team.

During his years with the Pacers, Craig has been justly honored. He was the first president of the Indiana Athletic Trainers Association and in 1993 won the organization's "Professional Clinician/Athletic Trainer of the Year" Award. He has also been chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association Executive Committee and served as the trainer for the Eastern Conference in the 1985 NBA All-Star game.

Locally, from 1978 to 1993 Craig served as president of Indianapolis Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine, Inc., a business he co-founded and oversaw an expansion to six Indianapolis area clinics.

David has two children, Jennifer and Brian.

Mel Daniels

Scout

In his 11th season as part of the Pacers' basketball operations staff, the former two-time ABA MVP will provide his keen sense of basketball talent as a scout for Indiana this season.

The ABA's first "Rookie of the Year" in 1969, he averaged 19.5 points and 15.9 rebounds a contest from 1968 to 1974. In addition to ABA MVP honors in 1969 and 1971, he was named the ABA All-Star game MVP in 1971.

A native of Detroit, Daniels served as an assistant coach at Indiana State from 1978-82 and was part of ISU's 33-1 NCAA championship runner-up team in 1978-79. Former Sycamore star Larry Bird credits Daniels with preparing him for the NBA.

Mel, an avid horseman, and his wife CeCe, live in Indianapolis.

Building partnerships across Indiana is the key to the success of the Pacers' community involvement. Through the Pacers Basketball Corporation Foundation, the team's coaches, players and staff have become active and visible in the community. The Pacers' players and coaches make numerous appearances at local schools where they encourage children to stay in school and help inform them about drugs and violence. As in the photo above, each appearance concludes with an autograph session where the children can meet and talk with the players.

NBA Terminology

Active List

The maximum number of active players is 12; the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the off-season and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

Injured List

When a player on the Playing Roster is unable, due to injury or illness, to perform his duties, his name may be transferred from the Active List to the Injured List. Any player placed on the Injured List, who is replaced on his team's Active List, must sit out at least five of his team's regular season games before he may be restored to the Active List. No more than three players may be on a team's Injured List at any one time.

Ten-Day Contract

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the Injured List. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts with the same team.

Trading Deadline

No trades are permitted after 9 p.m. (EST) on the 16th Thursday of the regular season (that's Feb. 23 this season). From that point until the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure or by signing free agents.

Waivers

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one team claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The cost for a waived player is $1,000, payable to the League.

Guaranteed Contracts

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

Renunciation of Amateur Eligibility

A person whose high school class has graduated and is at least 17 years old shall become eligible for the College Draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility remaining. Teams may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

Salary Cap

The salary cap for the 1994-95 season is $15,175,000 per team.

NBA Community Relations Programs

The NBA, its teams, players and coaches share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On the national and local levels, the NBA and its 27 teams are involved in many public service initiatives.

One of the Pacers' many community relations projects is "A Landmark for Peace." The monument symbolizes a strong commitment against violence in our community and will embody the message of anti-violence and the meaning of the lives of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Sen. Robert Kennedy. The design will incorporate material obtained from guns collected through an Indianapolis gun amnesty program sponsored by the city, the prosecutor's office and the Indiana Pacers.

The monument will stand in Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Park in Indianapolis, near the site where Robert Kennedy broke the news of King's assassination to a stunned group of supporters on April 4, 1968.

The Pacers, through the "Landmark" monument and other civic programs like "Word From the Court," a new non-violence initiative featuring Pacers players, are working to fulfill the dreams of peace shared by Dr. King and Senator Kennedy.

"Word From the Court" is a program designed by the Pacers and the Marion County Prosecutor's Office to educate and help young people with situations that appear in their lives. The message is from players, written on posters which are distributed to local schools and given away to youngsters.

"Stay In School" is a program unique to the National Basketball Association. A cooperative venture between the Pacers Basketball Corporation and Community Leaders Allied for Superior Schools (CLASS), "Making the Grade" is designed to encourage children to do just that.

Each student contracting to participate in the program is monitored throughout the semester in attitude, attendance and achievement. As the students accomplish their objectives, they are rewarded with Indiana Pacers merchandise, game tickets, admission to various area special events and merchant discounts.

The most important aspect of the "Making the Grade" program is the involvement and dedication of teachers, parents and administrators. Special consideration is given to these concerned adults who continue to support, encourage and inspire their students in accomplishing their goals.

"Don't Foul Out" has proudly been a part of the Pacers Basketball Corporation's community efforts since 1986. Boomer, Pacemates, coaches and current and former players make personal appearances to deliver the "Just Say No To Drugs" message to students statewide.

Thanks to many local businesses and individuals who donated tickets to the annual "Don't Foul Out" night.

These programs are just part of the Pacers' and NBA's continued awareness in community relations. Along with "Stay In School", the league's main projects include Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Holiday Commission Black History Month; Special Olympics, CARE (particularly leading relief efforts in Africa, led by Denver's Dikembe Mutombo); the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse and Healthy Families America and the NBA South Africa Tour.

National recording artists Day-Ta-Day performed and talked about the dangers of using drugs to thousands of young people at last season's "Don't Foul Out" post-game rally after the Pacers defeated the Phoenix Suns, March 16, 1994.

The How and Why of the "Pacers"

When professional basketball came to Indianapolis in 1967, one of the key decisions would be what to call the new American Basketball Association franchise.

According to Indianapolis attorney, Richard D. Tinkham, the nickname "Pacers" was decided on through a collective decision of the original investors. Tinkham, one of those investors, recalled that the nickname was a combination of the state's rich history with the harness racing pacers (investor Chuck Barnes was a horse racing enthusiast) and the pace car used for the running of the Indianapolis 500.

Tinkham said the "Pacers" decision was an easy one, but the real debate was whether the team should be called the Indiana Pacers or the Indianapolis Pacers. Since one of the original ideas for the team was to have it playing throughout the state with its base in Indianapolis, the official team name became the Indiana Pacers.
